

Security

This section covers general security principles that can be applied to VoipNow.

Take Security Seriously!

The general principle is that the security of the system cannot be better than the security of the "weakest" node of the system. When a node is compromised, there are good chances that the entire infrastructure is compromised.

We are providing basic advice, which is not designed to replace and cannot replace knowledge on infrastructure security.

Read Further

- Network Security