

How to perform backups with xtrabackup

Applies to VoipNow 3.5!

This article explains how to use xtrabackup to create database backups and how to use it with VoipNow.

Percona XtraBackup is described as an open-source hot backup utility for MySQL-based servers which avoids the database being locked during backup. It's deployed as a C program (xtrabackup) and a PERL script (innobackupex). Both utilities are installed together with VoipNow and can be used directly with vnbackup, if configured.

Step-by-step guide

Creating a full backup

You have to run the innobackupex command and specify the destination folder as an argument.

```
innobackupex --user <your_user> --password <your_password> <destination_folder>
```

[root@vn350 ~]# innobackupex --user <your_user> --password <your_password> /backups/

Preparing the backup

Preparing the backup consists in bringing it up to date and getting the files ready to be imported.

For that, you need to run the following command:

```
innobackupex --use-memory=4G --apply-log --user <your_user> --password <your_password> <your_backup_folder>/<timestamped_folder>

It's important to see the completed OK! line at the end of the script execution.

[root@vn350 ~]# innobackupex --use-memory=4G --apply-log --user <your_username> --password <your_password>
/backups/2015-02-27_12-52-33/

Restoring the backup

To restore the backup, empty the MySQL data dir (usually /var/lib/mysql) and run the following command:

```
innobackupex --copy-back --user <your_user> --password <your_password> <your_backup_folder>/<timestamped_folder>
