

Why Unified Communications?

Our communication software eco-system is designed to deliver hosted and on-premises Unified Communications.

Find out how you can create new business opportunities by unifying modern communication techniques. It's high time you knew why you should let go of your regular IP PBX in favor of newer solutions and how traditional telephony simply doesn't cut it anymore.

The resources in this area are meant to help you and your customers better understand how Unified Communications work and how companies and organizations can benefit from using UC in their business communication processes.

Hosted PBX

Using VoipNow, you can deliver advanced PBX services to your customers. Discover what major benefits it brings.

For Business

Help your customers communicate more efficiently and collaborate better. We can help you adopt new business opportunities with no effort, while using the existing resources.

Residential Services

Offering VoIP to the residential market can be a large-volume business. VoipNow delivers automation to help you sustain your business. Find out how exploiting this translates into profit.